I was born in 1993 and I have work for MTN customer service as a call center agent and data entry. I have studied Microsoft office and Microsoft windows. I am a very passionate person, gentleman and full of determination about everything I do, I am very grateful for the great vision that God has placed in my life and I have faith that every plan that God has for me shall come to pass. It is not by mistake, or by accident that God brought this vision into my life for a purpose.*

Love bridge, in this subject I will share my experience about intimate relationship and breakthrough from singleness. How to come out from a singleness and find the person you love and not just being in a relationship. There is also a deeper meaning in the title, love bridge is about finding a missing piece that can connect you to the right person. Solid food is for the mature, therefore, a relationship is not for kids or boys and girls, but for ladies and gentlemen who knows how to manage their own feelings and a purpose of a relationship. The purpose of a relationship is not experiment sex, but to know each other better before you get into marriage. You can not marry a person you don't know there background or where they come from and what is it they want to do with their life.

Love bridge is about finding the proper requirements to connect to the person you love, we need to be realistic, let's stop pretending as though we have no feelings. We are no longer children that we should speak by signs, we are now aware of what is good and bad. In this book am talking about serious relationships, if you are still a player, am sorry this is not for you. Am not here to encourage people to pregnant your girlfriend and run away, but this is for person who want to get into a relationship and people who want to find marriage. It's not normal for a man to be alone, let's stop living a life of criticizing women or saying that there is no love, am here to change your mindset. Love is the most beautiful thing in the world! A perfect life does exist, am trying to lead people into the perfect life that I have discovered that exists in Christ Jesus our Lord. Everything is possible, believe and you will see. The main thing that inspired me to write this book is write something different from what I usually write. I have also come to understand that love is an essential aspect for human existence. If it were not for love we would have been were are right now. According to the Bible, it is highly recommended for a man to live his father's house and unit with their life time partner. It's also not normal for a man to be alone, as a man you need to have a companion, a pillow and partner to talk to and also share your feelings with.

How to connect to your companion at a point of marriage

Just the Bible says, seek and you will find, knock and the door will be opened to unto you. Its not true that the reason why you are single today, is a result of time. Be the time keeper of your own life and the creator of your own life. You don't have to wait until Jesus Christ comes back and point to you the right person. How you want your life to be is entirely up to you. You are now an elderly person, let's act in a matured way and let's stop pretending.

You know long time ago when we were in primary school, we always thought that love in a relationship is all about sex and we were also told that women are bad people, but now that am grown. I have come to realize that it's not normal for a person to be alone.

When you come to think about it, love has been mentioned in the Bible. When Adam was in the garden of Eden, it was like heaven. He had everything, but still there was something missing in his life and God saw this and gave him a companion. You know am always amazed by the wisdom of God. Is a spirit, but He also knows everything that that best for every human being. He has created everything in advance and He as also given us knowledge in advance through His word.

Let the person know the truth. Silence will not get you anything in life, it's only when the word is released, there can be no manifestation of results. Action is the key to manifest your desires and a tool used to bring thoughts into life. We need to let the person know, until we speak, there will be no manifestation. Sometimes it's not always that your time has not arrived, it could just be that you are the obstacle of your own blessing. It's only when you speak, the person will not know and sometimes it could be that, it's person you are supposed to be with for the rest of your life. In life we are only recognized when we make a sound. The person will not know how you feel about them until you speak, no matter how great the desire.

Be realistic. Relationships is for the mature, it's not for kids. Maturity is about thinking according to your age and even above. It's not just about being advanced in age, but in thinking. Growing up is about gaining experience and acquiring more wisdom. For how long are we going to keep on pretending and acting like we are unaware of the things we already have and know. If you keep waiting, you might end up dying single. It's not everything that God will do for you. It's all our full responsibility to choose the person we want to spend our lives with and have in our lives.

Love is not about finding the perfect partner, it's about finding an imperfect person and turning them into perfect. There no sigs or such thing as finding the right person, there no perfect people in this world. It's finding the person that is driving or someone that will sponsor your education or give you capital to start a company. That's not an indication of Mr. Right or Ms. Right. Love is about finding the person who understands you and cares about you. Someone that is willing to sacrifice their time and needs for you. Finding the right person does not mean finding someone that will be giving you money or take you out from poverty. If you are looking for money then a relationship is the last place you will find. Love is not about someone taking all your responsibilities, there is a difference between your boyfriend and your father. Let's stop a habit of always asking for money from guys, when will you give? If you want your relationship to last, then it should be built on love and not bills. The habit of always asking for money is for kids, when you look at how kids behave, every time they see you, they want money for biscuits and sweets. As a grown woman, that should not be the case, stop embarrassing yourself as though you come from a poor family. As for men love is not just about sex, it's also about sharing your thoughts and values and even praying together. It doesn't any sense a guy propose you and you are already asking for money for talk time, it's not a qualification for serious relationship unless for primary pupils.

Love is about finding the person who you agree with. Two people can not walk together unless they agree. It's not about the appearance or level of education that qualifies for a perfect partner, rather it's the level of maturity. Love is a must, but relationship is by choice and not by force. As long as you two agree with each other, then you can walk together. It's not about what your friends or other people will say, you need to take responsibility for your life. The time of 'first let me ask my father or mother' are long gone.

Having a child outside marriage is a sin. This is very common in the world today and I would like to take this opportunity to approach this issue in my writing and teachings. A child is a very big responsibility, don't have children before you get into marriage. Having a child before marriage is not an indication that you are fruitful or that you are not a virgin. This believe as destroyed many marriages, do not rush for sex the world is not ending today. Have children after marriage and not before, what if someone just wanted to use you. The key thing is never have children before marriage especially when you are still in school. It's strange, these days you will also find a child having another child and you blame God for your suffering, it's a sad situation. This is also a contributing factor as to why women are looking for money in men and not love, is because they are looking for sponsorship. Oh...Lord have mercy for these men!

As long as you two love each other and understand each other, you can go ahead with a relationship. Love is not about size or age, it's about understanding each other and also having respect for each other. It's not true that a man is more special than a woman, we are all equal in the eyes of our creator. Don't start a relationship because you are looking for a punching bag or something to finish your frustrations on, if you feel such join boxes or wrist ring. A relationship is something that was created by God for a man to take full responsibility of his companion and receive full support from a woman.

The reason why many people are single today is because they looking for sponsorship and not love. Some looking for sex and so it's hard to find a permanent partner, because not everyone what's to be used. Some people have principles and are done with playing around and now they are looking for a serious relationship, but the problem is the world is getting more sweeter and mostly everyone feels there is still time to get serious. The time is now, there is no perfect time to start something, you need to be the time keeper of your own life. It's not time that will bring the right person to you, you have to seek and you will find. When you are not searching for something it can not be found, when you are not searching it's an indication that you are not ready for it or you have already found what you were looking for. You can not find gold if you are not looking for it, why should you find something you are not looking for, you only receive what you invite in your life. It's only a problem that comes without an invitation, learn to make your own decisions.

You can get connected to your great companion by being intellectual, this involves engaging in church congregations or even at your place of work. You can not find a perfect partner in a Bar or Tevin. No one is perfect, but atleast look for someone who's 99% perfect for you. Don't go for what everyone else is doing, go for what everyone else is not doing.

What it takes to become a man

- Responsibility
- Independence
- Courage
- Self-respect

These are one of the keys factors that makes a man; there is a difference between a man and boy. However, becoming a man is a decision, the most important part is being able to make decisions on your own. You can make decisions on your own when you are independent. A man is a person who is not always supposed to be told what to do, a man knows what is best for themselves, being able to think and reason by your own. A man requires less supervision, it's not always that people should be making decisions for you. It makes no sense at all, this can also make people stop respecting you and start thinking that you are not mentally stable. It's a child that is supposed to always be told to what to do. At the age of 19-20 you are not a child, you need to have the ability to make your own decisions and choices.

Being independent also means staying on your own and not living in your parents house. It's impossible to bring your girlfriend when you are staying with your parents, would you wait for them to go for work? That doesn't make any sense.

Being independent

When you become independent in life, you are able to make decisions on your own and is the vital part is that you learn how to manage a house and budgeting. You get to learn how to use money and spend money. You know, it's the responsibility of our parents to bring us on earth, but it's not their responsibility to take us to our destiny. It doesn't make sense to be staying at your parents house at the age of 30, if that's the case you will need have to have to check yourself properly, there must be something wrong with your mind. Am not exaggerating, the way it is, is that after our parents have kept us, it's now our job to keep them, to appreciate them for all the work they have done.

Self-respect

You need to be conscious of what the people around you are thinking about you. You know when you are grown up, each time you do something, you need to act though someone is watching. It's just a matter of doing things any how, you need to be responsible for your actions.

Self-value and being smart

At this point you're now a grown up man, you need to find out your purpose on earth and your values. What is it that can offer or came to do on earth, no was created to come on earth to eat, sleep and die. You need to engage in leadership, as a man you are a leader. Growing up also means being a leader and bringing something on the table that will benefit others. Developing these qualities are also very essential in realizing your values and attracting people in your life.

As a matured person, you need to be smart and look representative. As a man you need to act like a leader or manager. You need to take responsibility for your actions and words. You also need to be gentle, being a man does not simply mean beating your wife or punishing your girlfriend in bed. It's so strange, in life you are only recognized as a man when you manage to punish a woman in bed. Some even search for medicine and charms so they can punish their own partner. So strange! Having sex is not only thing to do in a relationship and marriage, if you only follow sex in a relationship then you will never find the right person, you might as well look for a prostitute.

As a man be secretive in a relationship and secure information, be careful who you share information to. Never disclose what the two of you are going through in your relationship, it's not everyone that will love you in this world.

The value of a relationship

A relationship is divine, anything that unites humanity attracts the glory of God. A relationship brings people together to be specific an intimate relationship is about sharing your thoughts and values. It's an opportunity for two people to share what they feel for each other. A relationship is also very important in such a way that it ends loneliness and boredom. It prepares you for marriage by understanding each other and know each other very way. It's also the time to identify the weaknesses of your partner and their strengths. The main purpose of an intimate relationship is to help a man and a woman to know each other better. To love, you can not get married to a person that you don't know, you need first to know each other better before make a decision as to weather you two can be together forever. Below are a summary of points on the values of an intimate relationship:

- It makes a sense of belonging to someone
- It makes you responsible
- It gives you self-respect
- It remained you that there is someone who cares about you and loves you in this world.
- Budgeting
- Self-control
- Concern for the other person
- Unite
- Conscious of maturity

A relationship is a preparation for marriage, it is a first step to marriage. A relationship is the same as marriage, it's a secondary marriage the only thing you are not permitted to do in a relationship is to have children. If you love your partner and you want to have children with them, then let their family and your family know about it. Before you make any decisions you will letter regret.

Prayer points on marital breakthrough and against a spirit of rejection

Love bridge

Love comes from God and it's what makes Him superior to all spirits that have ever lived, it is the strongest force in the universe; it is the only instrument that can bring dead relationships to life; love is the spirit of unity and it is the only air with a color; it's a fire that can not be quenched by water; it sees no barrier, it can travel as far as the oceans can flow.

It doesn't matter what people will say, what matters the most is what you think yourself. Love is between two people, as long as you two love each other and understand each other, there is nothing that people can say that can separate you.
